CLOSING REMARKS

Rabbi Menachem Mendel Schneerson

Rabbi Menachem Mendel Schneerson, the leader — “the Rebbe” — of the Lubavitch movement of Chassidic Judaism for forty-four years was a paradoxical man. While he barely set foot outside his neighborhood during his entire leadership, his influence was felt worldwide. While he was considered one of the world’s foremost religious scholars, he was also recognized as a brilliant scholar in mathematics and science. While he appeared to be an Old World leader whose community was somewhat cloistered, he was thoroughly knowledgeable about the modern world and reached out enthusiastically to society at large, to Jew and non-Jew alike, encouraging the pursuit of virtuousness, education, and unity.

Menachem Mendel Schneerson was born on April 18, 1902 (the eleventh day of Nissan, 5662), in Nikolayev, a town in Southern Ukraine. His father, Rabbi Levi Yitzchak Schneerson, was a renowned scholar; his mother, Rebbetzin Chana Schneerson, was an aristocratic woman from a prestigious Rabbinic family. He had two younger brothers, Dovber and Yisroel Aryeh Leib. When Menachem Mendel was five years old, the family moved to Yekaterinoslav, now Dnepropetrovsk, where his father was appointed Chief Rabbi.

From early childhood, Menachem Mendel displayed prodigious mental acuity, leaving school for private tutoring. By the time he reached his bar mitzvah, he was considered a Torah prodigy; and during his teenage years he immersed himself in the intricacies of Torah study. In 1923, he met Rabbi Yosef Yitzchak Schneersohn — then the Lubavitcher Rebbe — who drew him into his inner circle, giving him various responsibilities. Five years later in Warsaw, he married the Rebbe’s second-eldest daughter, Chaya Mushka (1901-1988).

A short while later, the couple moved to Berlin, where Rabbi Menachem Mendel had already begun studying mathematics and science at the University of Berlin. Because of the Nazi rise, the young Rabbi and his wife left Berlin in 1933 for Paris, and he continued his studies at the Sorbonne. Primarily, he immersed himself in prayer and religious study, and was referred to by his father-in-law on various matters including the preparation of Lubavitch publications.

When the Nazis occupied Paris, the couple was forced to escape the city. On June 23, 1941, they arrived by boat in New York where Rabbi Yosef Yitzchak Schneersohn appointed his son-in-law head of Lubavitch's educational arm, as well as the movement's social-service organization and its publishing house.

In 1950, Rabbi Yosef Yitzchak passed away. Although Rabbi Menachem Mendel was the obvious successor, he was initially reluctant to accept the mantle of leadership. One year later, he formally assumed the title of Rebbe, explaining to members of the movement that while he would be devoted to his work as a leader, each man and woman was ultimately responsible for his or her own actions, and for his or her own pursuit of G-dliness.

The ensuing forty-four years of the Rebbe's leadership saw Lubavitch grow from a small movement — nearly devastated by the Holocaust — to a worldwide community of more than 200,000 members. The Rebbe, recognizing the unique needs of the current generation and anticipating the societal upheaval of coming decades, began to establish education and outreach centers, offering social service programs and humanitarian aid to all people, regardless of religious affiliation or background. He established a corps of Lubavitch emissaries (shluchim) and sent them out to build Chabad-Lubavitch centers worldwide, to serve the spiritual and material needs of the local communities. Today, there are more than three thousand Chabad-Lubavitch institutions in over seventy countries on six continents. By blending his intense religious and secular training with deep compassion and insight, the Rebbe quietly became a leader to whom other leaders — those in politics, business and religion — turned for advice. Beginning in 1986, he would personally greet thousands of visitors each Sunday, distributing dollar bills as a memento of their visit with the Rebbe, a testament to being moved by his presence. In the Rebbe's latest talks, he emphasized the imminence of the final Redemption, and asked Jews and non-Jews alike to increase in acts of goodness and kindness as a means of preparing oneself and the world at large for Moshiach.

In 1992, at the age of ninety, the Rebbe suffered a stroke; he passed away two years later on June 12, 1994. Shortly thereafter, a bill was introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives by Congressmen Charles Schumer, John Lewis, Newt Gingrich and Jerry Lewis to bestow on the Rebbe the Congressional Gold Medal. The bill passed both Houses by unanimous consent, honoring the Rebbe for his "outstanding and lasting contributions toward improvements in world education, morality and acts of charity."

This year, as world Jewry celebrates the Rebbe's fiftieth year of leadership, the movement is growing in an unprecedented manner, with hundreds of new couples going on lifelong missions to represent the Rebbe in over 100 countries and all 50 States in the U.S.A.

Mr. Shmuel Eliezer Selfon, President
Congregation Levi Yitzchok-Lubavitch
1295 E. Hallandale Beach Blvd.
Hallandale, FL 33009

Greeting and Blessing:

This is to acknowledge receipt of your letter of 8 Shevat, with enclosures. Many thanks for the good news it contained about the progress of the Congregation and forthcoming events, including the fourth annual dinner set for the 26th of Shevat.

Significantly, the event is taking place immediately after Shabbos Parshas Shekolim, the theme of which is the half-shekel contribution "To make atonement for your souls" (לכור על נפשותיכם).

One of the eternal lessons of this annual contribution of the half-shekel - neither more nor less, by rich and poor alike, is that every Jew - rich and poor, scholar and layman is equally dear to HaShem - because deep in one's heart and soul every Jew is attached to HaShem, to the highest degree of Mesiras-Nefesh for His Torah and Mitzvos.

The half-shekel is certainly no measure of a Jew's devotion to HaShem. But HaShem requested a tangible expression of it in terms of money, to show how a Jew, every Jew, is capable of converting a silver coin into a matbe'a shelesh, a "fiery coin," similar to the one HaShem showed to Moshe Rabbeinu, as the Medrash explains.

My father of saintly memory, after whom your congregation is named, exemplified such real Mesiras-Nefesh for the preservation of Yiddishkeit under the most trying conditions, suffering persecution and exile, and inspiring many Jews to follow his example. Here in the U. S. A. etc. G-d gave us the possibility to practice all this without any difficulties at all and many times - even with the encouragement of the environment. Therefore, I trust and am sure each and all members and friends of Congregation Levi Yitzchok-Lubavitch will be continuously inspired, too, to help make the Congregation a model of what a Jewish congregation should be like.

May you proceed in this direction from strength to strength, in continuous growth and fruit-bearing, in keeping with the message of the New Year For Trees which we just observed.

With blessing for Hatzlocho and good tidings

P.S. Enclosed is receipt for the contribution to the Yud Shevat Fund. May the Zechus of it bring you, each and all of you, additional Divine blessings in a generous measure.

Good evening to all the Dinner Guests of the 37th Annual Dinner of Congregation Levi Yitzchok-Lubavitch, & Chabad of South Broward Award Ceremony.

Mazal Tov to the Distinguished Honorees, Dr. Herbert Brizel, Rabbi Yossi Lebovics, Mrs. Liat Levy, Mrs. Mushki Martinez, Matias Lancewicki and Mason Weisfisch., to our Dinner Chairman Rabbi Shui Kastel, to our Dinner Co-Chair Mr Bernie Friedman and to the entire staff of over 100 men and women who work full time and part time at Chabad of South Broward Headquarters and all its educational institutions.

For 38 years, Chabad of South Broward has been recognized as the leaders of Jewish Education, Social Services and Outreach in South Florida.

From our World's Largest Annual Chanukah Festival the past 38 years, to our renowned Chai Tots Preschool, from our Chaya Aydel Teacher's Seminary, to our CTeen and Friendship Circle Programs, from our Hebrew Club for Children, to our Kollel for Businessmen and Professionals, from our Mikvahs for the Physically Challenged to our three daily Shachris Minyanim attended by over 100 people every weekday, it comes as no surprise to see that our theme of Growth at this year's Dinner is taking us to new and soaring heights.

Tonight, many of our educational institutions have come together to make this our greatest Dinner in history.

GROWTH

Yes, we've come a long way, from being the first Chabad Center in Broward County, to now having some twenty Centers in South Broward and forty five agencies at our Hallandale Beach Headquarters.

The Rebbe annually sent a letter and blessings to our Dinner. No doubt, the Rebbe's blessings are being showered upon us this evening, to all Dinner Guests, to the esteemed Honorees and to all your family and friends.

A special thank you to those individuals who have climbed from being "donors" to Chabad of South Broward and have made a paradigm shift in becoming "partners" in our holy work.

It is thanks to our growing amount of Partners, that we are able to offer programs to thousands of men, women and children in our community.

May all of you go from strength to strength, in good health, with many Simchas and good Parnassah.

May our 38th Annual Dinner take place in Jerusalem with Moshiach, NOW!

Sincerely,

Rabbi Raphael Tennenhaus

Executive Vice President

Chaya Aydel Seminary

Chaya Aydel Seminary (CAS) is a Chabad- Lubavitch Girls' Seminary located in Hallandale Beach, Florida. CAS has attracted students from all over the world. Girls come to study at CAS because of its diverse learning program, its unique Shlichus/ Outreach opportunities, and its warm, caring, Family environment.

Our program is designed for a motivated student who is eager to experience a year of learning and growth with an emphasis on Chasiduss and Chabad outreach activities. Our dormitory houses boast beautiful full kitchens, laundry facilities, and spacious backyards. Hallandale Beach is centrally located and our Seminary benefits from Shabbatons, Farbrengens, and programs hosted by Chabad houses in the surrounding cities.

As CAS completes its 16th year of educating Jewish young women, we are proud to have instilled within hundreds of our graduates the necessary love and dedication to Hashem and the Torah, so they can be the pillars of the Jewish home and the leaders of the Next Generation.

CTeen and The Friendship Circle

CTeen and The Friendship Circle. Two programs you hear about all the time, yet don't actually know what goes down. What is it? Teen events, yes, but what do they actually do??

CTeen is a Jewish Teen Network, providing exciting and meaningful programs for all teens in high school. Our goal is to ensure a strong sense of Jewish pride, along with having teens complete hours of community service. We visit patients at hospitals, we bring joy at nursing homes, we do activities with sick children at the children's hospital, and much more. We instill a power of fulfillment and achievement in the teens, for they are the future.

CTeen is the place that any Jewish teen can meet other teens, have fun, and do good deeds all at the same time.

The Friendship Circle exists to bring happiness and companionship to children and young adults with special needs by celebrating their individuality, as well as by bringing energy, support, and peace of mind to their families.

To do this, we focus on developing the values of altruism, compassion, and acceptance in our teen volunteers as we heighten community awareness and sensitivity and encourage a sense of responsibility and involvement.

Being paired in a buddy system, our teen develops the sense of "I am important to this child, I make a difference." Having this attitude of independence and maturity, is important to any teenager.

Within both of our successful programs, there are over 200 teenagers, and counting.

New teens are being introduced every day to these programs.

Hundreds upon hundreds of community service hours, and thousands of smiles, are a result of CTeen and the Friendship Circle.

We stand here today with the power infused by the youth of this generation.

Chai Tots Preschool

Our school is built on the belief that the earliest events in life are the most important and formative, and are critical determinants of the long course of development.

We have a strong emphasis on learning through the arts, incorporating the Reggio Emilia discipline. Our children spend the day exploring, experiencing, playing, and creating. From our toddlers to our preschoolers, our students are exposed to a world full of art, music, and nature.

Our children learn through innovative and creative activities that are both teacher-led and self-directed. We follow the child's lead, using their interests to create points of study through a variety of motor, cognitive, and social skills.

Our vibe is gentle and happy, and our noise is the chatter of children's creativity.

As a Jewish educational center, the moral values of Judaism are woven naturally throughout all of our disciplines so that they become both a meaningful and treasured part of our children's lives.

Dr. Herb Brizel

Dr. Herbert E. Brizel has spent a lifetime of giving to others.

His career has encompassed 45 years of academic medicine and private practice in the discipline of radiation oncology, specializing in head and neck cancers. He contributed to the field through groundbreaking research publications, teaching, and creating educational programs, all of which helped develop radiation therapy from an exotic, last hope cancer treatment into an integral part of cancer treatment planning. Dr. Brizel is a Fellow of the American College of Radiology, a Distinguished Fellow of the American College of Nuclear Medicine, and a recipient of the Spirit of Healing Award from the Memorial Healthcare System, among numerous honors and recognition.

He is an active emeritus staff member of the hospitals, and continues to oversee cancer-related clinical trials there, in addition to regularly attending breast and lung tumor boards to stay current, as well as share his expertise. Dr. Brizel further serves as an active emeritus board member of the Memorial Foundation and Joe DiMaggio Children's Hospital Foundation.

Herb and his beloved wife Nancy (z"l) have been philanthropic pillars of the entire Jewish community, and long-time friends of Chabad, sharing in our joyous spirit and supporting the many critical programs that positively impact our community to make it strong. Upon Nancy's passing, he and his children generously donated one of the stained glass windows in our sanctuary in her loving memory. Chabad takes great pleasure in honoring Dr. Herbert Brizel with its Lifetime Achievement Award.

Rabbi Yossi Lebovics
EDUCATOR OF THE YEAR AWARD

Rabbi Yossi Lebovics

Rabbi Yossi Lebovics is the Principal of the Chaya Aydel Seminary, since its inception in 2002. Yossi was born in Montreal in 1973 and is the oldest of the three children of Cantor Yitzchok Lebovics and Adele (Tennenhaus) A"H. After graduating high school in Montreal, he continued his studies at the Rabbinical colleges of Montreal, New Jersey and France where he received his Rabbinic ordination.

Yossi Married Chanie (Lieberman) of Lauderhill FL in 1996, and settled there after spending a year in Kollel in Crown heights. Yossi and Chanie now have 10 children KA"H. As CAS completes it's 16th year of educating Jewish young women, Rabbi Lebovics has gained a reputation as an outstanding educator, known for his warmth and dedication and care for each and every one of his students. Rabbi Lebovics together with his wife Chanie and the rest of the CAS Administration have instilled within hundreds of its graduates the necessary love and dedication to Hashem and the Torah, so that they can be the pillars of the Jewish home and the leaders of the Next Generation.

Rabbi Lebovics is also an accomplished Cantor and has been thrilling audiences with his singing since he was a child. He is fluent in the traditional Nusach Hatefila which he performs in a pleasing and musical fashion, blending in contemporary tunes. He has studied music and Cantorial art under Cantor David Bagley and Mr. Jonathan White. He is a sought after Chazzan and has performed all over the United States, South America, Canada, Europe and Israel.

Since 2010 he has sung the National Anthem 5 times at the Miami Heat and Florida Panthers games.

TEEN OF THE YEAR AWARD

Matias Lancewicki

Matias Lancewicki. He is that teen who walks into a room with a smile, and everyone looks up. He is a role model for all his friends. Not only did he complete hours of volunteering, but focuses on coming up with new events, and bringing his friends into the work he does- so they too can benefit from the experience. He is a strong pillar of the Friendship Circle and CTeen, and teens look at him for inspiration.

We congratulate Mati, for Teen of the Year, for his strong leadership and inspiration to our teens and our community.

Mason Weisfisch

What are most teens doing every Sunday?

Football, watching television, sleeping in?

Let us introduce you to Mason, our youngest committed volunteer on the board. Mason, being in eighth grade and 2 to 3 years younger, than most of our volunteers, works for the Hebrew school and the Friendship Circle.

He connects well to children with special needs, and they adore him. Even at his young age, Mason is a role model for other teens for his patience, fun loving personality, and eagerness to be of help.

We congratulate Mason, for Junior Teen of the Year, because he deserves it for every hour spent helping our community grow.

There is always that one person who walks into the room, and everyone can sense a change. A sense of ownership, leadership. A person who people can confidently turn to.

To our dearest parents,
Rabbi & Mrs. Tennenhaus

We are so proud to be your children.
Both of you have taught us the meaning of giving. Living and giving with positivity, happiness, and most importantly a sense of humor.

Your generosity and love for each one of us makes us feel like we are the only one that exists.

How do you do it?

We don't know but we only pray that we can do the same with our families and communities .

To the most incredible principals;
Rabbi and Mrs. Lebovics and the entire staff at CAS, Thank you!!!

Thank you for giving us a year of our lives we will never forget.

For being teachers and educators who are full of warmth and love for every student and for treating us like family. For giving us a home away from home and for friendships that will last a lifetime. Thank you for giving us the knowledge and experiences to take with us and help us continue to thrive.

From Rabbi L's inspiring Tanya classes each morning, to Shabbatons in every city, to visiting old age homes, to trips to Mozart for breakfast, to Chanukah parties on boats...we are forever grateful for these memories, and we are so lucky and blessed to have experienced all that is Chaya Aydel Seminary.

All our love,
